

Equipment Calibration Technician

- Hands-on role with variety and challenge
- Provide technical services across QLD
- $51,801 + 15.4% super

Australian Hearing helps the Hearing Impaired in our community to reconnect with the world around them through our large national network of Hearing Centres.

We have a great opportunity for an Electronics Technician with either some experience in electronics fault finding or with a strong technical aptitude. In this role you will be responsible for the repair and maintenance of hearing aids and other associated equipment. You will provide front line advice to clients (many of whom are elderly), maintain technical statistics, carry out stock reports, and handle stock issues. You will also be involved in the calibration and installation of audiological equipment.

This role will involve some travel (1 week every 6 months) as you will be servicing several hearing centres in the region.

The successful applicant must have the following skills:

- Sound knowledge of electronic principles (experience in audio would be ideal but not essential)
- Ability to solder sub-miniature components
- Ability in component level fault finding and repair
- Experience in testing or calibration of equipment would be well regarded
- Good communication skills, technical capability and troubleshooting ability
- Intermediate computer skills are essential.

Ideally, you will already be working in a technical role. A TAFE level qualification in electronics or a technical subject will be highly regarded.

The team at the Townsville Hearing Centre are close knit and know how to have fun whilst working hard. Full training will be provided in all aspects of the role.

If you are interested in this fantastic opportunity, please submit your application to careers@hearing.com.au quoting TECH-TOW.
